Forecast For East Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Monday 22 Mar 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
On the cloudy side for many, but staying dry.

Today:
Locally chilly to start. Dry throughout but on the cloudy side for many. Some sunny intervals are possible however, with these perhaps more likely in the north. Feeling warmer than on Sunday, especially in the east. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Tonight:
Staying dry with clear spells during the evening, but tending to become cloudier and breezier later in the night. A touch of frost is possible in prone spots. Minimum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Tuesday:
A cloudier and breezier day, perhaps with the odd spot of drizzle in the Peak District. Brightest in the east, perhaps with some limited sunny intervals here. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Increasingly breezy and showery during this period, although some sunny spells remain likely. Temperatures dipping to end the working week, otherwise being near average.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.